Identify the supplier

Obedience Global Ltd is the legal entity named in the site footer and contractual documents. Use the current registered details there rather than copying an old proposal or screenshot.

Define the service

- Record which product and user group the assessment covers.
- Separate public website processing from authenticated customer workspace processing.
- Confirm any required data-processing terms, service commitments and support route before purchase.

Current release boundary

The service is in controlled testing and early-access operation. Published policies describe the current boundary, while future roadmap statements are non-contractual unless incorporated into a signed agreement.
